The accompanying notes form an integral part of these financial statements.

1. Nature of Operations

The Company was incorporated on August 12, 1998 under the laws of the Province of Ontario.

The Company has interests in mineral properties and has not yet determined whether these properties contain reserves that are economically recoverable. The recoverability of expenditures on mineral properties, including deferred exploration expenditures, is dependent upon the existence of economically recoverable reserves, the ability of the Company to obtain necessary financing to complete the exploration and the development of the mineral properties, and upon future production or proceeds from the disposition thereof.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Canada. The significant policies are as follows:

a) Going concern assumption

These financial statements have been prepared on the going concern assumption that the Company will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business. Accordingly, they do not give effect to the adjustments that would be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern and, therefore, be required to realize its assets and liquidate its liabilities in other than the normal course of business and at amounts different from those in the accompanying financial statements. The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is dependent upon its ability to attain profitable operations and to arrange financing to meet its current and future obligations.

b) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. These estimates are reviewed periodically and, as adjustments become necessary, they are made in the period in which they become known. Actual results could differ from those estimates

c) Capital assets

Capital assets are recorded at cost. Amortization is provided on the diminishing balance method at the following rates:

Computer Equipment	30%
Computer Software	100%
Furniture and equipment	20%

Amortization is provided at one half annual rates in the year of acquisition.

d) Interest in mineral properties

Effective January 1, 2003 the Company adopted the recommendation issued by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants regarding the expensing of exploration expenditures as incurred. Costs attributable to property acquisitions are capitalized while exploration expenditures on the property can only be capitalized once mineral reserves have been established. Once a mineral reserve has been established, all development costs will be capitalized. These costs together with the costs of mining interests will be charged to operations on a unit-of-production method based on estimated recoverable reserves. If the mining interests are abandoned, or when an impairment in value has been determined, the capitalized costs will be charged to operations.

The Company will continue to carry deferred exploration expenditures incurred prior to January 1, 2003 as an asset; however, when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable, the Company will evaluate the carrying value of the asset and an impairment will be recognized at that time.

e) Translation of foreign currency

Foreign currency denominated monetary assets and liabilities of Canadian operations are translated into Canadian dollars at exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date and at exchange rates prevailing at the transaction date for non-monetary items. Revenues and expenses are converted at the average exchange rate for the year. Exchange gains or losses arising from the transaction are included in operations.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

f) Income taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes using the asset and liability method. Under this method, future income taxes assets and liabilities are determined based on differences between the financial statement carrying value of existing assets and liabilities and their respective income tax bases (temporary differences), and losses carried forward. Future income tax assets and liabilities are measured using tax rates expected to be in effect when the temporary differences are likely to reverse. The effect on future income tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is included in operations in the period in which the change is substantively enacted. The amount of future income tax assets recognized is limited to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

g) Accounting for stock-based compensation

Effective January 1, 2003, the Company adopted, on a prospective basis, the accounting recommendations of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants ("CICA") Handbook Section 3870, "Stock-Based Compensation and other Stock-Based Payments". This section requires the use of the fair-value method to calculate all stock-based compensation associated with granting stock options to employees and directors, and the inclusion of that expense in the statement of operations. Under the new accounting policy, the Company measures stock-based compensation on the date of the grant and recognizes this cost over the vesting period of the options in results of operations. No stock options were granted during 2003, 2004 and the first quarter of 2005.

h) Impairment of long-lived assets

Effective January 1, 2004, the Company adopted the CICA Handbook Section 3063, "Impairment of Long-Lived Assets". This section requires the Company to assess the impairment of long-lived assets, which consist primarily of mineral property, plant and equipment, whenever events or changes in circumstances indicated that the carrying value of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets to be held and used are measured by a comparison of the carrying value of the asset to future undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset. If such assets are considered to be impaired, the amount of the impairment is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its fair value.

For the Company, the adoption of CICA Handbook Section 3063 had no impact on results of operations previously presented.

i) Asset retirement obligations

Effective January 1, 2004, the Company adopted the CICA Handbook Section 3110, "Asset Retirement Obligations". This section requires that the fair value of a liability or an asset retirement obligation be recognized in the period in which it is incurred if a reasonable estimate of fair value can be made. The estimate excludes the residual value of the related assets. The associated retirement costs are capitalized as part of the carrying amount of the long-lived assets and amortized over the life of the asset. The amount of liability is subject to re-measurement at each reporting period. This differs from prior practice which involved accruing for the estimated retirement obligation through annual charges to earnings over the estimated life of the property.

For the Company, the adoption of CICA Handbook Section 3110 had no impact on the results of operation previously presented.

At the present time, the Company has concluded that there are no asset retirement obligations associated with any of the properties.

3. Accounts Receivable

4. Funds Held In Trust

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and the Ontario Ministry of Northern Development and Mines have confirmed that the Company has the right to quiet possession of the property and the obligation to pursue exploration. The Company has initiated consultations with the Band, which are continuing, and is hopeful that a mutually acceptable accommodation of each party's interest will be reached. The Band has consented to low impact exploration, continuing consultations and employment opportunities as the project progresses. The Company does not feel that the actions of the Band will have an adverse affect on the Company's financial condition.

10. Contingencies and Commitments (continued)

Efforts are currently being made to acquire a letter of support from the Band and the local trapping family endorsing exploration by the Company. The Band is currently polling the community on various land use issues including exploration. The Company has been invited to support the education process prior to the community referendum. Whereas it was the Company's objective to obtain a letter of support from the Chief and Council prior to commencing the exploration, due to the requirement to keep the claims in good standing, but not proceed with phase 1 drilling prior to listing approval, the exploration plan was changed to accommodate linecutting and a magnetometer survey in August which has now been completed. Prior to conducting the linecutting and magnetometer survey, the Band was offered related employment opportunities which were declined. The work was awarded to contractors employing First Nations workers.
